

Dee's Tailored Takeaway

So my top takeaway from tailoring was the importance of getting that information before the course, so actually making that tailoring phone call and asking the questions about the delegates that you're going to be delivering to, and really knowing sort of specific details about what about their role and what will help them in the training you're delivering.

