

Olivia's Expert Takeaway

My top takeaway as an expert is that it's actually okay to not know everything and to bounce off the delegates, but it can still make you an expert and there was kind of, it was kind of a two-parter, where actually I want to be more of a facilitator than a trainer to really encourage and enrich that kind of learning atmosphere to get people talking and group discussions.